113. Bishva Bishvas —বিশ্ববাস—

[Majdur Labourers Contains the sorrowful tales of the miserable lives of the labourers of a jute-mill who in spite of their labour from morning to night, fail even to live hand to mouth while their capitalist-masters enjoy all the profits of the mill and are blind to the miseries of the labourers. An innocent labourer is put into jail without even any show of justice and this incident infused a revolutionary spirit into the minds of the labourers to feel the necessity of fighting the alleged injustice and ill-treatment to which they are said to have so long been subjected by their masters and to organize a strike in co-operation with the Union of Labourers. But this cannot produce any appreciable result as the mill-authority manages to make new recruitments in place of strikers which leads them to a second campaign culminating in the loss of lives of several members of the union by firing. Said to have been serially published in the monthly magazine "Agrani" from January, 1939 to June 1940.] Pages 170 Published by Brajabhāri Barman, Barman Publishing House, 72, Harrison Road, Calcutta [25th March, 1941] Double Crown 16mo 1st edition Rupee 1-8 annas

[Sabhyaṭār Samkat. Danger of Civilization. An address read on the occasion of the poet's 81st birthday celebration at Santiniketan in Vaisakh, 1348 B. S. The author attempts to point out how he lost faith in the western civilization and especially in the English people whom he once held in high esteem as a great nation with lofty ideals of civilization, when he came to realise the sad and wilful neglect on their part to do anything for the uplift of India during their long rule in the country. He draws attention to the conditions which have led to tremendous progress in the Soviet Russia and Japan in the modern times and to the helpless condition of India which suffered under the weight of the English domination like China under foreign domination without being able to derive the benefits expected from the Western civilization. In the end he expresses a hope that men like Andrews may yet uphold the name and prestige of the English nation by their own greatness, that the English will have to leave India one day, or other and that a saviour would soon come for India's deliverance.] Pages 11. [Drastār Cokhe. In the Eye of the On-looker. A collection of articles attempting to uphold Mr. Gandhi and to remove some unfounded notions about him. Views and opinions of Mr. Gandhi have been discussed in order to refute that he wants for himself dictatorial powers, and to point out that he wants to set before us an ideal of bravery, strength and discipline, that his ideals of Ahimsa and the charkha aim at power, courage and self-reliance, that he is a socialist and an enemy of capitalism; that the essence of "Gandhism" consists in truth, Ahimsa and liberality and that he has never tried to impose his views on others, and has rather always invited criticism of his views before acceptance, in order that the truth of his teachings might assert itself.] Pages 32. [Sarbbha-hārā-Biplab o Dala-tyāgī Kautaki. "Proletarian Revolution and the Renegade Kautsky". Is a Bengali version of Lenin's well-known work of that name. Purports to contain a scathing and threadbare criticism of Kautsky's plausible views relating to Proletarian Dictatorship which he is said to have deliberately meant for circulation in favour of the interests of the capitalists. Kautsky is shown to have been deeply versed in the theories of Marx and Engels and also to have himself supported them and even subscribed to their views. He is shown to have gone over to the camp of capitalists since the conclusion of the last European war and to have served them by his writings, almost like a slave, a sycophant, a hireling, etc etc.] Pages 3+206. RESOLUTION—No 2048Medl

Calcutta, the 13th August 1942

With their resolution No 315Medl., dated the 2nd February 1937, the Government of Bengal promulgated the Statutes regarding the General Council and State Faculty of Ayurvedic Medicine, Bengal, for the restoration and development of the Ayurvedic system of treatment with special reference to the question of teaching of that system under proper supervision and control. The Ayurvedic Council and Faculty came into existence on the 14th April 1937. In section 9 of the Statutes the term of office of the members of the Council was fixed for three years. The reconstitution of the Council was, therefore, due in April 1940. But owing to various difficulties, e g, the delay in the registration of Ayurvedic practitioners, etc., the term of office of the Council had to be extended from time to time. Certain proposals were subsequently made to Government for the modification of the constitution of the Council, and as it was considered desirable that the next Council should be formed according to the modified constitution, if any modification was found to be necessary after examination of those proposals, the term of office of the members of the Council had to be further extended. The different proposals for the revision of the constitution of the Ayurvedic Council have been examined by Government, and after careful consideration of the views and suggestions of the Ayurvedic Faculty and also of eminent Ayurvedic practitioners and associations, the Government of Bengal are pleased to make certain modifications in section 2 of the Statutes referred to above which should stand thus—

“2 Constitution—The said Council shall consist of the following members, namely:—

(a) A President to be nominated by the Provincial Government and a Vice-President, who shall be a registered Ayurvedic practitioner, to be elected by the members of the Council from amongst themselves

A note on the Pupil's materials in the Drawing Class

It appears (though it is not very clearly put in the syllabus) that work in classes 3 and 4 is in pencil and pastel. In class 4 water colour is introduced.

Pencil work requires a drawing book containing white drawing paper, a decent pencil, a piece of good India rubber, and two or three sharp knives in the class. At present a great deal of the drawing is done in ordinary khatas, with cheap pencils having blunt points, and a wet finger is used as a substitute for India rubber.

Pastel work requires a book of coloured paper, one box of about 10 colours for each child, and a stock of the deeper colours in dur or demidur crayons for general use. These deeper colours are rather more expensive than the usual, costing from 1d. to 6d. a stick, they are unobtainable in India, they have to be obtained from London or direct from Le France in Paris. Without these colours it is impossible to give a correct representation of many objects, e.g., the shadows on a leaf or fruit require a deep blue-green which is not contained in the standard boxes of the pupils.

To get good work in water colour it is absolutely necessary that the pupils should use good colours—and the right colours. It is usually considered best for the teacher to have the colours in tubes and to press out small dabs of the colours needed on to the pupil's palette. The ordinary paint boxes sold in stationery shops contain more colours than the child should use, and those of a very bad quality.

In short the pencils, pastels and colours must be supplied by the school, not by the individual. This is not only cheaper for the parent, but is also an essential condition of good work.
